

CONSTRUCTION SERVICES

Our Construction Services practice is one of the cornerstones of our firm. Our professionals specializing in the construction industry provide services to a large group of clients, including general, specialty trade, and heavy highway contractors, architects, engineers, and home builders.

Why GreerWalker?

We understand the unique challenges of the industry and have the technical expertise and the industry knowledge to not only handle our clients' tax and compliance needs, but more importantly, to provide them with valuable advice in many business areas. Many of our professionals are certified public accountants with the CCIFP (Certified Construction Industry Financial Professionals) or CIT (Construction Industry Technician) designations.

SERVICES

In addition to the traditional tax and accounting services, we can provide guidance and advice in many business areas, including:

- Design and analysis of job cost systems, including allocations of burden, indirect costs, and overhead
- Agreed upon procedure engagements, such as review of costs and overhead rates in accordance with contract terms
- Forecasts and projections
- Assistance with the design of contract schedules for both internal and external reporting
- Benchmarking against similar companies in the industry
- Look-back calculations and reporting
- Accounting method and entity selection analysis
- Cost segregation studies
- Sales and use tax consultation
- Analysis and design of internal controls
- Energy reduction and credits
- Exit planning and investment banking

Industry Resources

Our professionals are active members in several industry associations, including:

- Construction Financial Management Association
- Carolinas Associated General Contractors (AGC affiliate)
- National Association of Women in Construction
- Association of Builders and Contractors (ABC)
- Carolina Surety Association (CSA)
